Coroner's Jury Declares Fatal Shooting of Elbert Sherfield 'Justifiable'

Indicate Grand Jury Will Get Case
For Disposition

A coroner's inquest jury last night declared it was the opinion that the fatal shooting of Elbert Sherfield by Raymond Williams was justifiable homicide.

The inquest, held at the court house into the death of 20-year-old Sherfield, dragged through three hours and 45 minutes with the stories of the two groups involved differing greatly as to the belligerency of those who went to the Williams farm home four miles north of Eldorado Sunday afternoon to try to get a four-month-old baby.

Those who went after Sandra Jo Williams, daughter of Billy Ray and Bonnie Williams, testified they

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION: Get your seats, children, and stop that gabbing because Prof. Timmo is getting ready to start the history lesson for today.

Get out your notebooks and have your pencils sharp because we're going to have a lesson on the history of Harrisburg. A lesson about our city 30 years ago. Remember?

Guess we still had Indians here in that distant past, because right there on the front page of The Daily Register of June 9, 1924, was this item:

"An interesting Indian is now in Harrisburg and will most likely be seen at one of the local theatres as he is touring the country in that class of work. He is Chief Red Cloud, a Sioux Indian, and his home is in Pine Ridge, Dakota. (North or South?)

"There is considerable history connected with Chief Red Cloud. He is an adopted son of Buffalo Bill (W. F. Cody) and is very intelligent and well educated. He is the Indian who drew the second Indian lead with Tom Mix in the picture, 'North of the Hudson Bay.' Chief Red Cloud is an interesting personage and is always ready to converse with those who desire that pleasure."

Do times change? Same issue: "Mrs. Walter Brown, whose valued assistance aided The Daily Register over in the absence and illness of Miss Mary Richardson of the bookkeeping department, finished her work with the Register today. Miss Richardson was able to resume her work this week and will be in full charge of that department again next week."

And they were paving in June of 1924, too.

"Seven more miles of paving have been completed on state roads adjacent to Harrisburg. Two miles of that seven-mile strip between Marion and Harrisburg are now complete and will be open to the public as soon as they are sufficiently 'cured.' Another two miles and a half-strip is completed on the Stonefort road. One and three-fourths miles of this strip is at present open to the public and the remainder will be open soon."

"All detour roads maintained by the state are passable and are in as good condition as could be expected. The detours are well-established. No changes have been made recently and people who follow the directions posted by the state engineers will take the right road to travel."

Bob was around in those days, too: "Bob Burnett, window dresser at the Buckeye clothing house, has considerable originality and today he was displaying one of his latest

Albion Minister, Wife, Daughters Injured in Crash

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP) — The Rev. A. H. Akers of Albion, Ill., his wife and two daughters were recovering at a local hospital today from injuries received when the minister drove his automobile into the rear of his brother-in-law's car Tuesday near Westcliffe, Colo.

State police said the brother-in-law, Roland R. Heifer of Pueblo, Colo., slowed to avoid hitting a deer bounding across the highway and the minister was following too close behind to stop.

The Reverend Akers; his wife Mary, 33; his daughter, Janet, 12; and another daughter, 7-year-old Donna Jean, were cut about the head and face when they were thrown forward by the impact. Janet also broke her nose.

Clifford Heifer, 11, and Dale Akers, who were riding with the brother-in-law, were also hurt slightly.

Bidault Pleads For Confidence In Laniel Gov't

PARIS (AP) — French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault told the National Assembly today that the Geneva conference has revealed the true aims of the Communists—to dominate all Indochina.

Bidault addressed a hostile Assembly in defense of the Indochina policies of Premier Joseph Laniel's threatened coalition government.

The foreign minister hoped to help Laniel stave off a confidence vote which might topple the shaky government and produce a "peace-at-any-price" attitude toward the Indochina problem.

Bidault asked for a "sentiment of confidence" in the government's negotiations at Geneva.

He said France was ready to quit Laos and Cambodia, but the Reds refused to follow suit and demand recognition of the "imaginary" dissident governments of Laos and Cambodia.

"Thus the Viet Minh (Communists) showed its desire for domination over all of Indochina," Bidault said.

But he said there is reason to hope for a successful outcome at Geneva, and appreciable results "have been obtained so far."

"All manifestations of impatience," he warned the deputies, "would only provoke temporizing by our adversaries, which would allow them to improve their military situation."

Knock Out the Props
Two more props were knocked from Premier Joseph Laniel and Bidault Tuesday by Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov in Geneva and U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in Washington.

Supporters of the government felt Bidault was hampered in dealing with the Communists at Geneva by Dulles' press conference statement Tuesday. The American secretary said the United States has no intention of intervening in Indochina alone unless Communist China or Russia enters the war.

Molotov indicated France can either accept the Communist terms for an Indochina settlement or be eventually beaten by the Viet Minh rebels.

This was expected to influence some French deputies to decide it is time to get rid of the Laniel-Bidault team and install a government ready to make peace at any price.

Fall Short of Quota at Visit Of Bloodmobile

The Harrisburg Red Cross Bloodmobile fell short of its quota of 175 pints yesterday with only 114. According to Eugene Schierle, Saline county blood donor recruit chairman, 205 persons were registered to donate and 134 came in, out of which 20 were rejected.

Included in the 134 were 30 people who were not registered but who were just "walk in's." This means, then, that approximately 100 who registered did not show up, therefore, failing to fulfill their pledge.

The bloodmobile today is in Eldorado at the Methodist educational building, and the quota there is also 175 pints. Donors were received beginning at 12 noon today and continuing through 6 p. m.

Roosevelt Wins Landslide Vote In California

Rep. Condon Also Apparent Victor
In Congress Race

By United Press

James Roosevelt has won a landslide victory in his bid for a California congressional nomination and Lt. Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. is South Carolina's choice to fight for racial segregation as its governor.

Roosevelt outdistanced eight primary rivals in the heavily Democratic 26th District Tuesday despite heavy handicaps—his wife's charge that he was unfaithful with a dozen women and the Democratic National Committee's refusal to support him.

But Southern California Democrats rallied behind the late President's eldest son, in Tuesday's primary, giving him 2,736 votes to his nearest rival's 476 with 115 out of 901 precincts counted.

The 46-year-old Roosevelt hailed his victory early today as a return to "party unity in California."

Despite Roosevelt's strong showing, it appeared unlikely that he would score a double victory by capturing the Republican nomination, too. This had been rated a possibility under California's cross-filing law, but Theodore R. Owings making his first bid for a major public office, was polling far ahead in the GOP race.

Another prominent congressional candidate, Rep. Robert L. Condon, got the same treatment from Democratic headquarters after he was barred from watching atomic tests as a "security risk."

Despite the charges, Condon appeared to be on his way to a victory in the 6th District Democratic race. Attorney John F. Baldwin was the apparent winner in the Republican column.

In the top state race a stiff fight developed between incumbent Republican Governor Goodwin J. Knight, and Democratic Richard Graves. Knight appeared to have the Republican nomination in the bag, but trailed Graves by a slight margin in the Democratic race.

In one-party South Carolina, Timmerman's Democratic primary victory was equivalent to election to the post now held by former secretary of state James F. Byrnes.

Timmerman and his lone opponent, insurance executive Lester L. Bates, both pledged themselves to continue Byrnes' fight against the Supreme Court ban of racial segregation in schools.

Install Play Equipment at Three Parks

Play ground equipment for the three parks in the Eldorado-Raleigh park district is scheduled to be delivered this afternoon and installation will begin immediately. It has been announced by Mrs. Jesse Evans, secretary of the park district.

The three parks in the district are Mahoney Memorial park, Eldorado, Karel park on the banks of the Eldorado reservoir, and Raleigh park, across the highway from the Raleigh school.

To be installed at Mahoney park are the following pieces of equipment—12-foot merry-go-round, swing unit with 9 swings, large climber (monkey bars), large, curved, all metal sliding board, 6-board tetter-totter and for the small children a sliding board, swings, bars and rings.

Five complete units, including an 8-seat swing, ocean wave (a type of merry-go-round), large, curved, all metal sliding board, large climber, and 6-board tetter-totter, will be installed at Raleigh park.

To be added to the equipment already at Karel park will be an 8-seat swing unit, large climber, big sliding board and 6-seat tetter-totter.

A big Fourth of July celebration is being planned, Mrs. Evans also announced today, to be held at Karel park.

A name speaker will be present, there will be band music and the day will be climaxed by a big fireworks display over the reservoir.

It is planned to run buses from both Eldorado and Raleigh throughout the day so that everyone will have the opportunity to attend the celebration.
A new boat dock is nearing construction and should be ready for fishermen by July 4.
The playground equipment is of the very best, Mrs. Evans said, being supplied by the Grant Manufacturing Company of Council Bluffs, Iowa, one of the largest manufacturers of play ground equipment.

U. S. Preparing To Withdraw Indochina Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is making steady preparations for an emergency withdrawal of American men and equipment in case the Communists overrun the Red River delta in Indochina, a well informed senator disclosed today.

The senator, who asked not to be identified, said this was the main reason behind the announcement Tuesday that the Air Force mission in Indochina will not be called home as administration officials said previously.

The decision that it should stay, the senator said, was made in the last few days in the light of the fast deteriorating military situation. The plan was reported secretly to a few key congressmen.

With Communist rebel troops poised for an all-out assault on the delta, the senator said, the Defense Department wanted the 256-man mission to be on hand if it became necessary to get American planes and personnel out in a hurry.

The technicians maintain B-26 bombers rushed to the war zone from the United States. In addition, there are many members of a U. S. military aid mission in the delta area.

Committee Promised
Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, supported publicly by President Eisenhower, promised an aroused Senate Armed Services committee last February that the technicians would be withdrawn by mid-June. The Air Force said Tuesday that the original airman would be replaced but that the mission would be continued.

Sens. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.) and Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) charged in interviews today that the Defense Department had violated the "spirit" of its pledge to the Armed Services committee, of which they are members.

"The spirit of the promise was that the technicians would be withdrawn and other airman not be used to replace them," said Stennis.

Kefauver said the administration's action "certainly is not in keeping with the pledge" it gave last February.

Kefauver and Stennis pointed out that the "original agreement" was that the U. S. technicians would only stay in Indochina until they could be replaced by volunteer civilian mechanics, either from the United States or other nations. Both emphasized that ample time has elapsed for this.

Chicken Hatched With Four Legs

A Rhode Island Red chicken with four drumsticks turned up in Harrisburg yesterday.

Roy A. Lane, a state policeman, had it. The chicken had just hatched out yesterday morning at the home of Lane's mother-in-law, Mrs. O. E. Crabb at herog.

Lane had it in a box at his home along with a normal chick from the same hatch. The abnormal bird has two normal legs upon which it walked and two more of regular size which are folded up underneath its body.

Mrs. Herman H. Droste, 92, oldest resident of the Mt. Olive community, died yesterday at 5 a. m. She was the mother of Mrs. W. C. Fahrenkrog, 125 West Lincoln.

She was a life long resident of Mt. Olive. On May 31, 1885, she married Herman H. Droste who passed away May 4, 1953. In 1952 they celebrated their 67th wedding anniversary.

She was a life member of the Zion Lutheran church, a charter member of the Lutheran sewing circle, a charter member of the American Legion Auxiliary, and still enjoyed activities until poor health which came two years ago. She was confined to her wheelchair until her death.

The funeral will be Friday at 2 p. m. at the Zion Lutheran church. The body will lie in state until 11 a. m. Friday at the Becker funeral home.

Mr. Droste was on the city council and a member of the fire department as long as he lived.

Wilfred James, Forest Ranger in charge of the Vienna district of the Shawnee National Forest, is being transferred to the Bessemer district of the Ottawa National Forest in Upper Michigan. It was announced today by E. N. Lee, Forest Supervisor of the Shawnee.

Ranger James is a graduate of the University of Michigan where he received a B. S. F. degree in 1932. Following graduation from the University of Michigan he started to work for the Forest Service on the Huron National Forest in Lower Michigan. In 1934 he was transferred to the Missouri Purchase units where he worked on the acquisition program and later as superintendent of a Civilian Conservation camp. The latter part of 1937 he was transferred to the Murphysboro district of the Shawnee National Forest and in 1939 assigned to the Vienna district as Forest Ranger.

During the fifteen years he has been on the Vienna district, approximately 14,000 acres of open lands have been reforested with pine, recreation facilities of the district have been greatly improved and forest fires reduced by fifty percent. Under his direction the forest lands have been improved and are now of greater value for the enjoyment of the people.

C. A. Gregory, Ranger on the White Cloud district of the Lower Michigan National Forest, will transfer to the Vienna district to replace James. The transfers will take place the latter part of June.

Water Board Asks Council to Seek Permit for Dam

The Harrisburg water board, in special meeting Tuesday evening, passed a resolution requesting the City Council to file a request with the Division of Waterways, State of Illinois, for permission to construct a dam, spillway and intake for the purpose of impounding water for Lake Harrisburg.

It was explained by City Attorney D. F. Rumsey that this was a necessary procedure, although usually routine.

During the meeting Atty. Rumsey discussed land titles in the proposed lake area and revealed that the work of clearing the titles is progressing satisfactorily.

In two instances the owner of the surface does not own any of the mineral rights and every effort will be made to get title to the mineral rights for the city.

Senate to Hold Hearings on 'Fair Play' Code

By United Press

The Senate is going to hold hearings on whether its committees should observe a so-called "fair play" code in their investigations.

Chairman William E. Jenner (R-Ind.) of the Senate Rules Committee disclosed today that a subcommittee including himself as chairman, and Sens. Frank Carlson (R-Kan.) and Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.) soon will begin hearings into "the entire field of procedures" for investigating committees.

The move is an outgrowth of complaints against "one-man" inquiries and is aimed in part at Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

But both Jenner and Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) voiced doubt that any rules changes resulting from the hearings can be put through in time to affect the current Congress.

Other developments:
Trade: Knowland announced firm opposition to plans of Senate Democrats to force action on President Eisenhower's reciprocal trade program by tying it to a tax reform bill.

The tie-in plan was broached by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) to force action on the trade bill. Knowland and Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, insisted that both the trade and tax picture would be confused by combining the bills. Knowland indicated the Democrats would have a chance to vote on the trade bill, but in only a one-year extension.

Cross-filing: Rep. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) predicted the California legislature will repeal the state's primary election cross-filing law as a result of the new party-label requirement which was put to its first test Tuesday. He said that heretofore the law had worked to the advantage of incumbents but that the party-label requirement has changed this.

Communists: The American Legion asked a House Judiciary subcommittee to approve a bill outlawing the Communist Party and all affiliated or subordinate organizations.

Chairman Mundt
Is Vexed at
Renewal of Feud

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington offered today to testify under oath in the Army-McCarthy hearings if Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy will give sworn answers to questions about his personal finances. He proposed the Senate set up a special new committee to hear McCarthy.

McCarthy conditionally accepted Symington's proposal and promptly threw a new charge at the Missouri Democrat.

Hearing chairman Karl E. Mundt (R-S. D.), vexed by renewal of a feud which has interrupted proceedings frequently since Friday, chided both senators for what he called their outbreak of "mid-morning madness."

He finally broke off the exchange and got the hearing back on the day's business — a cross-examination of McCarthy's chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn, for the ninth straight day.

Mundt turns thumbs down
Mundt told newsmen during the lunch recess that "there is nothing this committee can do" to set up the special committee proposed by Symington to hear McCarthy.

Mundt pointed out it would take a resolution, approved first by the Senate Rules Committee and then by the Senate, to authorize any such special committee.

The Symington-McCarthy feud broke into the open Friday when transcripts of monitored telephone talks showed Symington had suggested that Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens get legal advice from Clark Clifford, one-time counsel to former President Truman, in the secretary's battle with McCarthy.

McCarthy has been demanding that Symington be sworn to testify about his part in instigating Army charges against Cohn and McCarthy.

Symington read a letter offering to accept McCarthy's demand if the Wisconsin senator would appear before a special committee and answer questions raised by a Senate Rules subcommittee in 1952 about his personal finances.

Denouncing the 1952 questions as "smeared," McCarthy said he would accept Symington's challenge — provided Vice President Richard M. Nixon and the Senate want to appoint the special committee suggested by Symington. Senate observers believed there was small chance the Senate would set up such a committee.

McCarthy then counter-attacked

Metropolis Boy Sentenced for Killing Father

METROPOLIS, Ill. (AP) — Ophis Evans Jr., 16, of Metropolis was sentenced today to not less than five years and not more than 10 years in the Illinois State School for Boys at Sheridan for the fatal shooting of his father a year ago.

Circuit Judge Clarence E. Wright sentenced the former high school honor student after deciding his case did not come under the jurisdiction of the new Illinois Youth Commission. The shooting took place before the commission was established.

Evans pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter after earlier pleading innocent to a murder charge for which it was difficult to impanel a jury although about 250 veniremen were called.

The youth shot his father after ordering him to leave the family home last June. Ophis Evans Sr. was released from Anna State Hospital shortly before the shooting on condition that he stay away from his family.

Two Chanute Airmen Killed

RANTOUL, Ill. (AP) — An auto carrying four airmen hurrying back to their base for a midnight check collided with a truck late Tuesday night, killing two men and injuring three others.

Airman 3. C. Billy Doty, 19, Polk, La., was killed instantly. Airman 3. C. Thomas L. Poston, 19, Long Beach, Calif., died of injuries early today in the Chanute Air Force base hospital.

The Chanute public information officer said the airmen had been to Danville for the evening and were trying to get back by midnight when their car, driven by Airman 3. C. Roscoe Pauley, Girard, Ohio, collided with a truck on U. S. 136 six miles east of here.

The injured were Pauley; Airman 3. C. George H. Felty, 19, Columbus, Ohio, and truck driver Joseph A. Wall, 30, Adell, Iowa. Wall was released from the Chanute hospital today after treatment for leg injuries.

Full Story of Soviet Air Role in Korea Now Told by Pilot Who Brought Us a MIG

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The full account of active Russian participation in the air war phase of the Korean fighting is now revealed publicly for the first time.

It's told by Lt. Noh Kum Sok, the North Korean fighter pilot who delivered a MIG-15 to the U. S. Air Force and learned to his surprise that there was a C.O.D. price of $100,000 due him on the plane.

At the start of the Korean fighting Noh was in the North Korean naval academy in Chungjin.

"Tough, hard Russian officers ran the school and supervised all of the instruction," he says. "We had to learn to speak and read Russian. We were being taught to be part of the Russian Navy."

About four months after the fighting started it was decided to build up the NK Air Force, Noh tells. Before that there were about 50 pilots in it and they flew only obsolete prop planes.

In October, 1950, a group of Russian officers assembled the students at the academy, called the names of certain men and ordered them sent to a training base deep in Manchuria.

"There were about 200 North Koreans in my class," he recalls. "Some of the instructors were North Koreans. But the base was run by Russians. And all we heard was how grateful we should be to the Russians for all they were doing for us."

"About half my class were killed in crashes and that made the Russians very angry. After any accident they would yell and scream about how we were wasting the good, expensive planes they were providing to us."

After primary training Noh was sent to a jet base at Anshan, about 100 miles from the Yalu River in Manchuria.

"It was 100 per cent Russian," he says. "Russian generals, pilots, guards, mechanics and even Russian food. It was the first time I saw the Russian MIG-15. About two months after I arrived the Russian pilots began flying combat missions against UN planes and they would use their experience from this to teach us tactics."

He says the first batch of Russian pilots to go into combat were older and much better pilots than the Russians who flew later. Then, he reports, the caliber of the Russian fliers being sent up to fight was much lower. They had an average junior high school education and were a rowdy, unkempt, hard-drinking crew.

The first group of Russian pilots took a more scientific view of what they were doing. They had bull-sessions on the best way to fly against the Sabrejets and also developed a healthy respect for the prowess of the Sabers, Noh says.

While he was learning to fly the MIG-15, Noh explains, the Russians were almost fanatical about the need to be careful with the Red planes. "Sometimes North Korean student pilots were thrown into jail when they damaged a MIG, but most often they were forced to help repair the damage they had done and then fly the same plane after it was fixed."

During this phase of training the pro-Russian propaganda directed at them also became more fanatical. They were made to join the Communist Party and were forced to spend three hours a day studying communism.

Noh left the 100 per cent domination of the Russians when he entered combat from the jet fighter field at Uiju in northwest Korea.

"The Russian fighter pilots were always kept based behind the Yalu, were not permitted to fly below the Pyongyang area or over the open seas, but they wore Chinese uniforms," he says. "This was to make sure that if they were shot down they did not fall into the hands of the UN. We were warned never to admit that Russian pilots were flying in combat," he explains.

Russian headquarters behind the Yalu issued all the orders about when the North Korean units were to fly, what their mission should be and what to do when they tangled with the Sabrejets, he says. Even during actual combat, the Russians directed the operation by radio and ran the whole show as extensively as communications would permit.

The Chinese units, he says, flew in their own formations but also under complete direction of the Russians.

Periodically during the aerial fighting, groups of the NK pilots were ordered to one of several Russian bases above the Yalu. This was to learn new tactics and to get more Russian propaganda, Noh explains. Sometimes they flew in combat as part of Russian squadrons, he says.

During these visits Noh got to know many of the younger Russian fliers who were there to get combat experience, he says. They all had a violent hatred for the American pilots and fought against them in the air with real vengeance, he claims. They were assigned to this combat duty on a regular rotational basis, Noh says, and hated it. They blamed their lot on the Americans.

During the latter months of the air war the hatred for the Americans was made more intense among the Russian fliers by the increasing rate of kills the UN pilots were establishing against them. Noh attributed this to better machine guns on the Sabrejet and to its greater speed.

After the truce, and just before he escaped to the UN side, Noh says he heard rumors of a new, faster MIG-17 which the Russians claimed was superior to the Sabrejet in every respect. But he never saw one.

Travel Light, Best Advice For Vacationers

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — I'm about to hit the trail, like millions of other vacation-bound motorists. So I called on the travel people.

One of them gave me some good advice: "Don't lug along any luggage your wife can't carry—particularly if you plan to stop at motels."

The American Automobile Association didn't say that in so many words, but it did echo the theme that folks ought to travel light.

A woman, if she is smart, will pack a tailored suit of tropic weave. She should stick to one or two basic colors with accessories to match and a change of blouses for contrast. That will give m'lady several outfits. Plus, of course, a slip or so and a girdle that can be washed and party stockings for dress-up and the usual things a gal carts around like run-around dresses.

One Good Suit

Mike Frome of the AAA told me what mere man ought to fetch along—only one good suit, a sports coat, a couple or three pairs of complimentary slacks and plenty of sports shirts—with the accent on comfort.

"If a man and his wife are traveling alone on vacation," he says, "they ought to be satisfied with two big bags, if possible, plus a little one. The little one should contain things that are needed for rest stops like bobby pins, make-up, etc."

And when we pack the rear end of the car for a vacation, we ought to have some system about it.

Mike does not advise hanging suits and dresses on the hooks over the windows to block the vision of the driver. Clean off the back rug or the back seat and lay the hampers down flat.

"Things will be just as fresh," Mike says, "as though you had stretched them up against the windows."

Put Bags Flat

And everybody ought to carry a laundry bag for soiled clothing.

Travel-weary Mike also told me a thing or two about stacking pags in the trunk compartment.

Put 'em in flat, he says, and you'll find you have a lot more room. Not only that, it keeps your pressed clothes from settling and wrinkling.

"If you have golf clubs and fishing tackle you don't intend to use until you get there," the AAA man says, "tuck them in the back of the luggage compartment—out of the way. And the last things you put in the trunk are the jack and tire tools—where you can get them in a hurry if you have to."

Also, says Mike, it is smart to carry a flash light and sun glasses and bathing suits and thermos jugs and an electric iron. And remember to follow the rules of the road.

Miss Mary Jean Jackson, Ronald Darnell
Married June 6 at Presbyterian Chapel

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Darnell

Before a background of emerald and huckleberry, white gladiolus trees, candelabra, and two gold vases filled with large arrangements of white gladioli and white stock, Miss Mary Jean Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Jackson, 16 South Webster, became the bride of Ronald Darnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dana Darnell, Akin, in the small chapel of the First Presbyterian church.

The double ring ceremony, performed by the Rev. W. L. Cummins, took place Sunday, June 6, at 2 p. m.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a street length dress of white, designed with a bouffant skirt which was bordered with a wide band of scalloped eyelet embroidery. The embroidery work also edged the sleeves and the waistline which was adorned with a white satin sash. She carried a cascade arrangement of yellow throated white orchids and stephanotis.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Richard Jackson, Marion, bride's sister-in-law, was attired in a dress of aqua fashioned with a low V neck and a full skirt. She carried a round bouquet of yellow daisies and wore in her hair a halo of yellow daisies.

Donald Darnell, Akin, student at S. I. U. and twin brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Mrs. Charles Ridenour, music supervisor of the city schools, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Thompson sang "Because" and the "Lord's Prayer" as the couple was kneeling.

Mrs. Jackson, mother of the bride, was attired in an aqua dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. Mrs. Darnell was dressed in navy with white accessories. Her corsage was of white stephanotis.

The bride, who has a bachelor's degree in kindergarten and primary from MacMurray college, is a kindergarten teacher at McKinley school. The bridegroom, a teacher at Junior high school, has a bachelor's degree and master's degree in education from S. I. U.

A reception immediately followed the wedding at the home of the bride's parents. The dining room table was decorated with a pastel green cloth and the wedding cake was surrounded with smilax and pink sweetheart roses. Flowers adorned the living room.

Hostesses were Mrs. Tom Smith and Mrs. Oscar Reed, cousins of the bride's mother.

The couple is now on a wedding trip to Lake Taneycomo in the Ozarks, and they will return June 15 and reside at 200 North McKinley.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mrs. Fedora Marquis, grandmother, Mrs. Hazel Auteh, Akin, and David L. Marquis, uncle of the bridegroom.

Herbert Dixon has returned from a week's visit with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Dixon, and family in Cedar Grove, N. J. He also visited New York City where Gene is employed in a bank.

Navy Plane with 17 Aboard Missing Over East China Sea
TOKYO (AP)—A U. S. Navy PBY seaplane with 17 persons aboard is missing over the East China Sea south of Japan, the Navy said today.
The twin-engine aircraft, bound for Hongkong, was last heard from at 6:55 a. m. just as it passed south of Nagasaki. However, a call on a distress frequency was heard at 10:30 a. m. and it is believed to have come from the missing plane, the Navy said.
The plane's occupants were not identified. Officials said they include seven naval officers, two Marine officers and eight Navy enlisted seamen.
Surface craft and Navy and Air Force planes joined in searching the area where the plane was believed to have gone down, but found no trace. The plane, if it landed unharmed, could still be afloat, the Navy said.

Legislation to Override Benson Gains Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation to override Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson and boost the dairy price support level was reported gaining support today in the house agriculture committee.
The plan would hike government price props under dairy products to 85 per cent of parity. They stood at 90 per cent of parity until April 1 when Benson slashed them to 75 per cent—lowest level permitted under farm law.
The proposal, which would have the effect of raising government-guaranteed prices to dairy farmers by about 13 per cent, would go into force Sept. 1—several weeks after congress is scheduled to adjourn and while members are home campaigning for re-election.
The boost in price supports would amount to about five cents a pound increase for butter and several cents a pound for cheese.
The plan is sponsored by Republicans from dairy states who say it is "must legislation" because farmers in their districts are irate over the sharp support cut made last April 1.
They hope to write the plan into the "catch-all" farm bill which the committee plans to send to the House floor next week.
Several opponents said they believed the committee would approve the plan despite the large quantities of surplus butter, cheese and milk powder piling up in government hands. The Agriculture department now owns about 1,000,000,000 pounds of dairy products.
Benson dropped a broad hint Tuesday that President Eisenhower may veto the farm bill. He spoke out after the committee wrote into the bill an extension of mandatory price supports of 90 per cent of parity for basic crops for another year.
This action, approved 21 to 8, amounted to a rebuff for Mr. Eisenhower and Benson who had urged Congress to allow flexible

Lake Geneva, Wis., Residents Picket AF Site Engineers

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (AP)—About 30 angry residents greeted a 10-man air force inspection team Tuesday night with signs bearing such messages as "Please leave us alone," "Air Force go home," "Why this target?" and "keep out the Air Academy."
The group of engineers arrived for a fact-finding inspection of this resort community as a possible site for the new $126,000,000 air force academy.
The protesters marched in front of a hotel but were ignored by the engineers. The Lake Geneva Regional News reported that most of the pickets were "farmers and property owners" who fear they will lose their land if the air force moves in.
A. M. Beader, editor of the paper, said the group was orderly and much smaller than expected.

Admits Break-in After Being Picked Up for Naval Authorities

Buddy Ray Vessels, picked up yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs Isham Threest and Lowden Perkins at El Dorado for naval authorities, admitted a break-in during the winter to the deputies.
Vessels, who was turned over to the navy, nevertheless, said that he and Ralph Roberts of Eldorado broke into the Green Hill school and took a number of food items.
Roberts now is on the state farm at Vandalia serving a one-year term for another theft.

Looking AT Sports

By BILL MELTON

Two products of the South Seven conference baseball play formed the battery for Columbus, Ohio, in a recent American Association game.

John Romonosky, Harrisburg professional pitcher, who has been transferred from San Diego in the Pacific Coast league to the AAA Columbus club, was the hurler and his catcher was Les Pinkham, star athlete at West Frankfort of a few years back.

Romonosky failed to finish the game, but did alright at bat, with two hits in three tries. He also scored a run and batted in another.

Pinkham had three safeties in four attempts.

Did you get that twenty points?

If Jimmy Dykes can't get base hits out of his Orioles, says The Sporting News, it isn't because he isn't trying. In the first 32 games, Dykes tried 20 different batting orders, hoping to find one that would give results. At least four men were tried in each of the first eight batting positions.

Joe Garagiola, who works for Stan Musial's popular restaurant in St. Louis during the winter months and catches for the Cubs during the playing season, recently asked The Man to confine any questions that he has to the off-season, says The Sporting News. Joe complained, "Stan comes to the plate, and asks me how my family is. Then before I have a chance to answer, he's on third base."

Bill Hazel, Galatia stock car driver, continued his winning ways over the week end by taking two feature races.

Saturday night Hazel captured the feature event at Marion and came back Sunday night at Murphysboro with another first. He also took a heat race on each program.

Dykes was tossed out of both games of a double-header with the Yankees.

Dykes had his first argument with Hurley when the umpire ordered Baltimore catcher Clint Courtney to stop using a bat with nails imbedded in it. They had their second argument as a result of Dykes' needling from the bench.

Detroit Buys First Baseman

NEW YORK — First baseman Wayne Belardi, a long-ball hitter who received few opportunities to break into the lineup in Brooklyn, shifted to the Detroit Tigers today where he will get a chance to play as soon as he arrives in town.

Tiger owner Spike Briggs and the club General Manager Muddy Ruel jointly announced the deal from the press-box at Yankee Stadium after completing it by telephone with Dodger officials in Brooklyn.

The Dodgers received a substantial sum of cash, according to Briggs, plus first baseman Charley Kress and two players later to be selected from Detroit's Buffalo farm club of the International League.

Cardinals Snap Dodgers' 10-Game Win Streak with 10-3 Victory; Musial Homers

CHICAGO — Nothing, it appeared today, is more fragile than a 10-game win streak put within reach of the St. Louis Cardinals.

In dumping the Brooklyn Dodgers 10-3 Tuesday night, the Redbirds snipped a 10-game victory skein, longest in the National league this year, for the second time in two weeks. Their earlier victims were the Milwaukee Braves.

There was nothing gentle about last night's wrecking job as the Cards pounded starter and loser Carl Erskine and two other Dodger pitchers for 16 hits, including Stan Musial's 20th home run.

Musial also hit a triple as he and rookie Wally Moon each drove in four runs.

In the American league, work-horse right hander Virgil Trucks won his third game in five days, stopping the Athletics 9-3 on four hits, to boost the White Sox into first place a full game ahead of Cleveland, which lost to Washington, 3-2.

Detroit Blanks Yankees
The victory was Trucks' eighth, the White Sox' sixth straight, and their 15th in their last 18 games.

The Sox wrapped up the game in a five-run seventh in which Ferris Fain hit a two-run double and George Kell a two-run homer.

In other American league games Detroit beat the Yankees 8-0 and Baltimore topped Boston, 7-4.

Lefty Billy Hoelt of the Tigers was touched for only two hits in his shutout of the Yankees. The 22-year-old kid with bombsight control walked only one Yankee as he became the first lefty and the second hurler to score two wins against them this season. He pitched a five-inning one-hitter against them on his last trip to New York.

In other National league games, the Chicago Cubs turned their home run power on Robin Roberts to defeat the Phillies 6-5, and the New York Giants edged the Milwaukee Braves 6-5 on Monte Irvin's two-run double in the ninth inning.

Average distance between earth and Mars when the two planets pass each other is 48,600,000 miles, though they can get as close as 34,600,000 miles.

Rookie Corky Valentine pitched his first big league shutout for Cincinnati, 5-0 over Pittsburgh.

Hank Sauer hit his 19th homer with two on, and Ralph Kiner connected twice, once with a man on, to account for all the Cub runs.

Grand Slam Homer

Joe Adcock hit a first inning grand slam homer to get the Braves off to a 4-2 lead, but the Giants worked back within range with one run in the second and one in the third to go with two they scored in the top of the first.

Monte Irvin hit a two-run double after Alvin Dark led off the ninth with his fourth hit and Hank Thompson walked to give the Giants their margin. Earlier, the Giants had peppered away at a 4-2 Milwaukee lead obtained on a first inning grand slam homer by Joe Adcock.

Valentine gave up eight hits in handing punchless Pittsburgh its 10th shutout of the year and winning his fifth game for Cincy.

The homers, which gave Sauer 19 for the season and Kiner 10, accounted for all of Chicago's runs against Philly ace Robin Roberts and reliever Karl Drews. Gran Hamner hit a Philly homer.

Tuesday's star: Rookie Billy Hoelt of the Tigers, who pitched a two-hit, 8-0 victory over the Yankees to become the first lefty in the majors with two wins over the world champs this season.

Dr. Oppenheimer Asks AEC to Reverse Decision

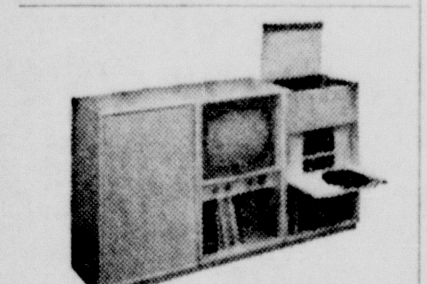

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer has asked the Atomic Energy Commission to reverse a special board's decision barring him from government atomic secrets.

The famed atom scientist filed a written brief Tuesday after being denied the right to oral arguments in the first security charges against him.

Immediate disclosure of the brief is prevented by AEC regulations. However, Oppenheimer's attorneys are expected to challenge the board's findings in light of its assertion that Oppenheimer is a "loyal" and "discreet" citizen.

A 21 majority of the board, headed by former Army Secretary Gordon H. Gray, voted against clearing Oppenheimer because of his "serious disregard" for security regulations and his "disturbing conduct" on the hydrogen bomb program.

U. S. Official Says Communists Can Overrun Indochina in 30 Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high-placed American official said today that the Communists may be able to complete their conquest of northern Indochina in 30 days if the Allies do not intervene immediately.

This stark possibility is causing the deepest concern in administration circles. But officials said this country still will make no move to intervene until the conditions it set farm home again. They said in the fracas that followed Charles Williams, 14, a son, grabbed Sheffield and Sheffield slung himself away from the lad. Just as this happened, they said, there was a shot and Sheffield was wounded. He was rushed to the Pearce hospital in Eldorado but died in the car.

Wright, who drove the car on all three trips Sunday to the Williams home, said he stayed in the car and saw nothing. What he heard, he said, he couldn't make out.

Billy Ray, on the stand, told of separating from his wife Thursday night, declaring they had quarreled since their marriage.

Neighbor Testifies

"I told her I would keep the baby at my parents' home until she decided where she wanted to stay and she said all right," he testified. He said when the group came to the Smith home and asked for the baby he told them the only way Bonnie could get it would be through the court "because she would be dragging it all over town and I didn't want it to be brought up that way."

He said that at the farm home that day he was dared to come out by Sheffield but wouldn't go.

Louise Taylor, a neighbor of the Williams family, testified she saw and heard it all and that Sheffield dared Billy Ray to come out to the highway, that if he did the undertaker would carry him away.

"They also dared him to go to work in Harrisburg the next day," she testified.

Referred to Sheriff

She said that on the third visit, when the shooting occurred Sheffield and Wanda tried to take the baby from Mrs. Williams in the front yard.

"Charles (the 14-year-old son) pushed Wanda back from Mrs. Williams," Mrs. Taylor said, and when he did that Elbert grabbed him by the shirt neck, began shaking him and had his fist back. Mr. Williams didn't say a word. He just came away with the gun. There was some awful blackguarding of the Williams family and I heard the shot fired."

Pat Atkinson, local policeman, said the Williams group came to him to seek police protection between the Sunday visits and wanted to file a complaint against four people. He said he referred them to the sheriff because it was out of his jurisdiction.

Williams Testifies

Williams himself took the stand, telling of the events that led up to the shooting. After the groups met at an Eldorado service station and then started back to the farm place, Williams continued:

"They beat us home. We pulled in next to the house. There was about 30 feet between the two cars. I went in and heard the girl scream 'he's after Charles.' I looked through the window and saw Bonnie and Wanda running by my wife toward the house. I picked up the rifle and opened up a box of cartridges I put on the mantel. I poured three or four into my hand and went into the yard. Elbert pretty nigh had Charles caught. I stepped off the porch and put a shell into the rifle just as Elbert caught Charles. He colared him with his left hand and drew back to hit him with the right. I yelled three times before I ever shot and he was cursing either me or Charles or he broke and ran back to the car. Bonnie and Wanda went back with them."

A statement by Dr. Lee Pearce of Pearce hospital, who performed an autopsy, said the 22 calibre slug penetrated the upper portion of the right arm into the upper lobe of the right lung and into the lower lobe of the left lung. He said death was due to internal hemorrhage.

Boy Scout Items, Masonic Cards Feature Articles in Collection of Cecil Rabourn

Many people are collectors. Some collect match books, others collect pencils, there are pipe collectors. In fact almost every known article is a collector's item to someone.

But Cecil Rabourn of Carrier Mills is a most unusual sort of collector as he collects just about EVERYTHING.

A quick run down reveals that swords, canes, Indian tomahawks, powder horns, knives, T-shirts, neckerchiefs, neckerchief slides are collectors' items with Mr. Rabourn. And there are others.

In fact his two most extensive collections have not yet been mentioned. He has more than 5,000 match books and his collection of Masonic cards numbers in excess of 1,000.

It all started some 10 years ago when Mr. Rabourn suffered a nervous breakdown and was confined to his home for about two years.

He had always thought that someday he would start a collection and even though he was too ill to get out of the house, he could write, so he started writing letters to various groups and publishers for organizations telling of his plan.

He had long been active in Masonic work and the Boy Scout program and naturally his thoughts turned to these organizations first.

The letters brought surprising results. "Some days I received more mail than I could open" Mr. Rabourn stated recently.

His Masonic card collection represents Masonic lodges from every state in the United States and most of the foreign countries. Of the approximately 900 lodges in Illinois the Rabourn collection includes cards from more than 600 Masonic lodges in the state.

He has a card from all the number 1 Masonic organizations and affiliates in Illinois and also a card from the Zero lodge in Scotland, considered the Mother Masonic lodge of the world.

The collections also include a card from each year the Scottish Rites Consistory of East St. Louis has been in existence—1912 to the present.

Among the more highly prized cards is one issued to then president, Harry S. Truman. It is Mr. Truman's 1948 card from Blue Lodge 618 A. F. & A. M., Grand View, Mo.

The collection includes cards issued to Governor of New York Thomas E. Dewey, former Governor of Illinois Dwight Green, Supreme Court Justice Earl Warren and Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

He has three thick scrap books and one each is devoted almost exclusively to his two chief interests—Masonic work and Boy Scouting.

The Boy Scout collection is about as complete as the Masonic collection. It includes membership cards from troops all over the world, 150 Boy Scout camp patches, including patches from seven world-wide jamborees—three held in the United States, plus jamborees held in Australia, France, England and Austria.

He has a vest from Boy Scout Region 7 and it is practically covered with the camp patches—making for a riot of color.

Also in the Scout collection are 55 merit badges and the Order of Arrow, but these are not just collectors' items—these he earned in the years he has been active in Boy Scouting. He has participated in most all phases of Boy Scouting and has attended many camps and training schools.

The T-shirt collection numbers some 150, representing many military installations, colleges, resort areas and Boy Scout camps.

He has a collection of cancelled railroad passes, representing most all of the railroads in the nation. A couple of pages in one scrap book are filled with passes to the gallery of the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives. Although not as complete as the Masonic and Scout card collections, he has many cards representing IOOF lodges, Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs. There are ticket stubs to all types of entertainment, including the Kentucky Derby, a World Series baseball game, the "500" Memorial Day auto race and many others.

There are Army, Air Force and Navy chevrons and 300 military organization patches.

"Now just about everyone knows of my interest and I get something new for the collections about every day."

"If you had time, I would show you lots more," Mr. Rabourn said as we started to leave.

Unique Juggling Acts Will Be Seen At Shrine Circus

Of the many unique acts with Tom Packer's Southern Illinois Shrine Circus, sponsored by Anad Temple, A.O.N.M.S., and the Shrine Clubs of Southern Illinois, which will play in Harrisburg, June 16 there are two so unusual that circus spectators talk of them excitedly and refer to them as anything from startling to phenomenal.

The acts are two Danish importations billed as Lott and Anders and Paio and Mai.

And what makes them so unusual?

Just that they perform some really incredible juggling while balancing on 18-foot-high unicycles. Both teams, supreme masters of the cycling art, sparkling with youth and refreshingly handsome, are extremely adroit as they race madly about executing feats of juggling that would be most difficult even at floor level.

Both teams are recent arrivals from Europe where they appeared in circuses and music halls. Previous to Europe they toured Australia.

Veterinarian to Start Practice Here After Graduation

Harrisburg is getting a veterinarian.

He is William Prusaczyk, a young man who is getting his degree from the University of Illinois June 20.

He has secured the Metcalf property on North Main street immediately south of the Farmers' Supply and is getting the house in readiness for occupancy.

Prusaczyk, a native of West Frankfort, said he would set up offices in his basement and do his small animal work there.

He will not be ready to start his practice here, he said, until after his graduation from the university.

He is married and he and Mrs. Prusaczyk have one son, three and a half years old.

CECIL RABOURN, COLLECTOR OF CARRIER MILLS, surrounded by a small, but representative group of his collections. In the background, hanging on the side of his house, can be seen a few of the canes, swords, tomahawks and powder horns he has accumulated. T-Shirts and neckerchiefs are on the benches and at Mr. Rabourn's feet are the three scrap books that are bulging with cards, programs, pictures and other items. He is wearing a vest, on which he has sewed about 75—or approximately half—of the Boy Scout camp patches in the collection, and also the Order of the Arrow insignia. (Register Photo)

PETER EDSON'S Washington News Notebook

Ike Plays It Cool—Dog Trouble—Pink Lady—Need Soil Stabilizer—Self-Service—Ex-Reds Tour

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Many of the people who were yelling the loudest that the Army-McCarthy hearings should be stopped immediately—if not sooner—by President Eisenhower himself have changed their tune.

They now want the hearings to go on indefinitely. Their argument is that the hearings show up Senator McCarthy in an unfavorable light, and that he is losing ground and losing followers every day the hearings go on.

Recent Gallup polls are cited in support of this theory. If it is true, President Eisenhower may again be proved a lot smarter, politically, than most of the professionals. By keeping his shirt on and staying out of the Senate hearing fracas, the President will have let McCarthy destroy himself.

This has been the experience with previous factional leaders like Father Coughlin and Gerald L. K. Smith. This kind of lingering political death by natural causes is considered much more permanent than any suppression by higher authority would be.

President Eisenhower has already won an important round in this battle by influencing the Republican National Committee to make no bookings for Senator McCarthy during the coming campaign. Any speeches he makes will be on his own or on invitation of particular congressional candidates to come into their districts.

Political realists point out, however, that this is mostly wishful thinking. Senator McCarthy has been prematurely counted out before—and bobbed back into action with some new attack. He now has more requests for speaking engagements than he can possibly fill.

Even if ridden out of the Eisenhower Republican organization and disowned, he would still be a force to reckon with in some such organization as the new Hamilton Fish-Col. Robert R. McCormick "For America" movement started in Chicago, or alone, with Texas oil millionaire backing. The best appraisal seems to be—Don't cross Joe off yet, or too soon.

POSTAL INSPECTORS are spending too much time trying to make jobs available for deserving Republicans, according to Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D., Okla.). As an example he cites charges that one inspector turned in a report against a Civil Service carrier who was a wounded World War II vet. It read: "You have permitted dogs, two of which are very large, to follow you continuously while serving your route, and have not made proper efforts to discontinue this practice after you were informed that it was objectionable to some of the patrons on the route."

In reply the ex-G.I. stated that "It is impossible to carry letters on any route in Norman (Okla.)

without having a dog or dogs follow for some distance."

Sen. Monroney said he thought the government ought to quit inspecting dogs.

A BRAVE REPUBLICAN is Mrs. Alice Leopold, director of the women's bureau in Department of Labor, who recently decorated her office in pink. Not only that, but she also says she would like to get red furniture to go with it.

Ultrafeminine Mrs. Leopold doesn't have to bother about what colors she uses. When the possibility of her attending the coming Geneva, Switzerland, meeting of the International Labor Organization was first brought up, one official told her that he thought it was a fine idea. "Nobody," he said, "could look at you and think you were a Communist."

IN CONNECTION with the new billion-dollar highway aid bill which makes a big grant for highway research, U. S. Bureau of Public Roads is asking all American chemical firms to see if they can develop a soil stabilizer for road beds.

One of the big difficulties of road construction is the varying degrees of hardness and moisture content of earth over which the beeline superhighways must be built.

Public road officials believe that if the chemical firms could come up with some compound to pack the roadbed, highway construction costs could be cut drastically.

UNCLE SAM is making a real saving in the current program to convert all elevators in government buildings to automatic self-service.

Charles A. Peters, director of General Service Administration's building management, reports there are now 40 elevators without operators in Washington and 13 more are being converted.

Savings are estimated at close to $200,000 a year. So far there has been no complaint from government employees who ride in these automatic elevators.

In fact, they prefer them, after they get used to them. On elevators which the general public must use, operators still seem to be necessary, as visitors don't know the button-pushing system.

U. S. INFORMATION Agency is making good use of five of the former Chinese Communist prisoners of war who refused to go back to the Reds during the big Korean POW exchange.

They are now touring the Philippine Islands showing two anti-Commie films and lecturing on the existing evils under communism.

The two USIA prepared films are "The Korea Story" which documents Communist aggression, brutality and treachery, and "When

Tourists Curious About Mrs. Luce

(Editor's Note: The 500,000 Americans who visit Rome each year dutifully see the ruins and then hasten to the nearest sidewalk cafe to ask the first person in earshot, "What about Mrs. Luce?" In the following dispatch, Robert E. Jackson, United Press manager for Italy, answers the questions Americans most frequently ask him.)

By ROBERT E. JACKSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
ROME — (AP) — Question: Do the Italians resent the fact that the United States has sent a woman ambassador?

Answer: The Italians, being a polite people, gave Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce a courteous reception but kept their distance. Mrs. Luce told President Eisenhower, when he offered her the job that there were two strikes against her—she was a woman going to a "man's country" and she was Mrs. Luce, a controversial woman. Today Mrs. Luce feels the problem that she is a woman has been overcome, but there remain both Italians and Americans who believe her job is twice as hard because of her sex.

Question: Is Mrs. Luce popular? Answer: This is not the measuring stick for an ambassador, whose first job is to represent his or her country. Obviously the most popular ambassador is the one who gives away $100,000,000 with no strings attached. Mrs. Luce, as the representative of an economy-minded Republican administration, has less aid to give and more questions to ask than her predecessors.

Question: How good a job is Mrs. Luce doing?

Answer: This is one which only the State Department can answer. An ambassador is not supposed to solve another country's problems, perhaps the chief task of an envoy in these days of rapid communication is that of a reporter—and Mrs. Luce is a veteran reporter. What she tells Washington about Italy must be tailored into America's global strategy. Another main role is to put America's best foot forward at all of the dedications, dinner parties and youth forums which take so much of an ambassador's time. She adds a note of glamour to these occasions.

Question: What does her staff think of her?

Answer: She has the complete loyalty of her staff. One avowed Democrat who disagrees with her politically has stayed an extra year to carry out her decisions. They say in private that they respect her. The chief holdouts against her are members of her own sex. Two criticisms are voiced: that she sometimes fails to listen to her advisers and that she fails to delegate the day-to-day running of the embassy. She answers that when she gets conflicting opinions, she must, as the boss, make the final decision.

Question: But what do the Italians REALLY think of her?

Answer: There are those who

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois
Wednesday, June 9, 1954

like her and those who don't. She made nearly everyone in Italy angry last spring when she appealed to Italians not to vote for the extreme parties. But she rejects the charge that she said, "You came from Washington and London, not Mrs. Luce."

CORNERSTONE OF THE METHODIST CHURCH erected in 1902 and just recently torn down to make way for the new church and educational building yielded a small, well sealed, copper box when probed. Shown taking the box from its abiding place of more than half century are the Rev. W. L. Cummins, pastor of the church, Bill Stain and Fred N. (Buck) Russler. The box, in a fine state of preservation, will be opened and the contents examined at the laying of the cornerstone for the new building. This ceremony will take place Sunday morning, June 27, according to present plans. The old cornerstone has been moved to a place of safekeeping and may be used in some manner in the new structure. Progress on the new structure is proceeding daily. (Register Staff Photo)

The Voice Goes to Washington as Result of Urging by Congressmen

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — They've at last started moving the Voice of America out of the sophisticated New York City to the Congressionally-policed atmosphere of the nation's capital.

It's the result, in part, of years of urging by congressmen who have felt that Gotham was just not the proper place of origin for the propaganda radio voice which tells the story of typical America to millions of people around the world.

In their zeal to please Congress on this matter, Voice officials have gone whole hog. First, apparently for environmental purposes, they're putting VOA under the protective shelter of the only mother in the President's Cabinet, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby. She won't have anything to do with the VOA's work, however.

The 14 studios needed for the Voice's operation are being constructed in the building of Mrs. Hobby's Department of Health, Education and Welfare. This will put Voice employees under the same roof with the educators and social workers of HEW, for what that is worth to them in their adjustment to Washington.

Secondly, it puts the Voice about as close to Congress as you can get, a couple of short blocks down the hill from the Capitol building. It means that all the congressmen have to do to keep an eye on the Voice operation, henceforth, is look out of their windows.

Finally, whether by design or not, the neighborhood of the new VOA studios is about as un-New York as there is in Washington. There's a botanical garden nearby, a lot of slum-type shacks around and the nearest decent bar is almost too far away to reach by walking.

Total cost of the move is going to be $2½ million. That pays for construction of the new studios, a lot of new equipment and the moving costs of the Voice employees. The latter item is expected to be $330,000.

There are 1,077 positions in VOA operations in New York. Some of the employees have already arrived here. But officials believe that only 650 will make the shift. The rest either don't think they would like to live in Washington, or don't want to leave because New York is the center of the radio broadcasting industry.

Current real estate prices in Washington are surprising transferred Voice employees. The cost of houses and rentals has gone down ever since the Republicans moved in. Plenty of houses and apartments are available in all sections. The cost of living also is less here and commuter time is shorter.

When the studios are finished they will give the government in Washington the most complete radio broadcasting layout it has ever had here. Currently, the best government facilities have been the studios on top of the Department of Interior building.

Because of the vast, world-wide outlets of the Voice its equipment is complicated. The master instrument panel requires a half-million soldering connections which will have to be done by hand.

VOA broadcasts in 34 languages, which accounts for the 14 studios. Frequently the same broadcast is going out in numerous languages at the same time.

Although much of VOA's total output will be originating in Washington after the move is completed, the programs are carried by wire and cable to 75 different transmitting points around the world.

These VOA transmitters, incidentally, include three of the most powerful known broadcasting stations in the world, which are necessary to reach a maximum audience and get through Russian jamming.

Because of the nearness to policy making and the important news breaks here, being in Washington will speed up the whole new distribution, officials insist. In addition, they claim, it will make supervision and management by the U. S. Information Agency, the independent parent organization which runs all U. S. propaganda programs, far more effective.

Grandmother Passes Bar Examination

NORMAN, Okla. — A 56-year-old grandmother who has just passed her bar examination says she thinks "every grandmother should study the law — it helps unlimber the mind."

Mrs. Maurice H. Merrill, the wife of a University of Oklahoma research professor of law, said she will not practice but will continue to help her husband.

She said she started reading law 20 years ago because, as a stenographer, she "wasn't happy just copying words."

"I wanted to know what I was writing about," she said.

The accusation in Mrs. Nelson's voice lashed out at Elaine and the last vestige of her confidence oozed away. Astrid's mother suspected that Elaine had broken that plate and was reminding Mrs. Dahlstrom of that fact.

"Yes, Mary, it was broken," Mrs. Dahlstrom admitted with unbelievable nonchalance.

"Oh, how awful! How on earth did you do it? You were always so careful with your things!"

Mrs. Dahlstrom shrugged inconspicuously. "An accident. They happen. No one ever breaks plates on purpose," Mrs. Dahlstrom gleamed to the doorway and saw Elaine. For a moment she seemed ready to smile, then apparently decided not to.

Without knowing what to do, Elaine put out her hand to steady herself.

Mrs. Nelson followed Mrs. Dahlstrom's eyes to Elaine in the doorway. She stiffened, but did not smile.

"Mary," Mrs. Dahlstrom said, "I think you know Elaine, my daughter-in-law. She went to high school in Rudeville. Elaine, this is Mrs. Nelson, Astrid's mother."

Mrs. Nelson's cold eyes seemed to shoot shiny arrows of enmity toward Elaine.

Automatically, Elaine extended her hand as she went across the room to the kitchen table. "Hello, Mrs. Nelson."

Mrs. Nelson let her hand hang in Elaine's hand. The clasp seemed limp and calloused during the second it lasted. Then the older woman asked, "Was that you playing the piano?"

Mrs. Nelson nodded.

Mrs. Nelson's lips curled but they did not seem to make a smile. "Astrid always plays those pieces. You've heard her, haven't you, Signe? She's a fine player, Astrid is. A fine player." She repeated the words with emphasis that was not lost on Elaine. Mrs. Nelson was suggesting that Astrid's rendition was much more worthy.

"Those old Norwegian songs are nice when you know how to play them."

As though her hands were at fault, Elaine thrust them behind her. "I'm really not much of a musician."

"If I were the lady my friend Signe pretends to be, I'd congratulate you, Elaine, for hooking Tom Dahlstrom. But I can't be a hypocrite."

"Mary!" Signe Dahlstrom's voice cracked like a whip.

Mrs. Nelson turned her fury on Mrs. Dahlstrom. "I'm going to speak my mind, Signe. Tom should have married Astrid. This marriage to the Allen girl won't work out. He'll soon get tired of a woman who'll cavort around the high school auditorium stage like a Hot-tentot, making like she thinks she's a chorus girl!" Mrs. Nelson paused, almost panting, to gather vengeance for more words.

"I'm surprised at you, Mary," Mrs. Dahlstrom said. Her voice betrayed injured feelings. "Everyone I talked to thought the little dance Elaine did was delightful."
